The diagram illustrates a W-CDMA network architecture. At the top, two base stations are shown, each represented by an inverted triangle with a vertical line extending downwards. The left base station is labeled "U.K. Base Station" and the right base station is labeled "Japanese Base Station". Two diagonal lines with a zigzag pattern connect the two base stations, representing a radio link. Below the base stations, a portable telephone device is shown, consisting of a rectangular body with a small antenna on top, a screen, and a numeric keypad. The device is labeled "W-CDMA Portable Telephone Device Terminal".
